

General Education Online Suspends Operations

The Internet (2001-09-12)

As a result of the recent tragic and horrific events which unfolded on the morning of 9/11/2001, the General Education Online Project and its volunteers have suspended operations temporarily. The suspension of operations will allow our limited number of volunteers to focus their time to support the disaster relief and rescue efforts currently underway in New York and Washington, DC.

The General Education Online Project asks that our visitors please join us in extending their thoughts and prayers for the victims of these horrific events and to their families.

General Education Online anticipates resuming operations on Monday (9/17/01). Until then no e-mails will be processed (either additions or questions) and no development work will take place.
